

The New Village School
Sausalito, CA

We are seeking to fill a full-time position that will cover Spanish through the grades. If possible, we are looking for an individual who can cover both a rigorous Spanish curriculum as well as Handwork.

One of our founding teachers, Cristina Cabrera, will be retiring at the end of December and we have big shoes to fill. It has been a hallmark of our program to be able to conduct Handwork classes in Spanish and thus have Cristina as one of the carrying teachers in our Team-based Waldorf model. We would love to find a young teacher who would be ready to embark on a similar journey with us for the long term.

Along with this important position, we are seeking to connect with passionate teachers with some experience who might be interested in joining in a teaching and management capacity as we look to expand our programs. We are especially eager to interview individuals with a passion for middle school science and literature, who understand the importance of sending off to high school graduates who are well-adjusted, motivated, and willing to work hard.

We are a vibrant community of extremely supportive colleagues and families. We are rigorous, dedicated, and full of joy and passion. If the children's passion for learning and going to school is a fair measure of the quality of a program, we have it. Our Classroom Without Walls, farming, and travel program, with its attendant student fundraising tasks, are some of the hallmarks outlined on our website which we invite all interested individuals to peruse. We have regular school tours and open houses as further opportunities to get to know us.

Our salaries and benefits are competitive with other Waldorf schools in the area, including tuition remission to faculty with children. Inquiries can be sent to me at my school address or to:
